The Fall of Wisconsin: The Conservative Conquest of a Progressive Bastion and the Future of American Politics

by Dan Kaufman

The Fall of Wisconsin is a deeply reported, searing account of how the state's progressive tradition was undone and turned into a model for national conservatives bent on remaking the country.

The Longest Line on the Map: The United States, the Pan-American Highway and the Quest to Link the Americas

by Eric Rutkow

The Longest Line on the Map offers readers a bird's-eye view of the incredible highway that snakes through more than a century's worth of U.S. and Latin American history, ending in a triumphant ideology that insists the Americas share a common destiny and mutual interests.

No One Tells You This

by Glynnis MacNicol

Intimate and timely, No One Tells You This is a fearless reckoning with modern womanhood and an exhilarating adventure that will resonate with anyone determined to live by their own rules.

The Omega Principle: Seafood and the Quest for a Long Life and a Healthier Planet

by Paul Greenberg

Rigorously reported and winningly told, The Omega Principle is a powerful argument for a more deliberate and forward-thinking relationship to the food we eat and the oceans that sustain us.

The Widower's Notebook: A Memoir

by Jonathan Santlofer

Written with great warmth and unexpected humor, The Widower's Notebook is the portrait of a marriage, single again after losing your spouse and of the enduring power of familial love.

Kompromat: How Russia Undermined American Democracy

by Jeff Pegues

Kompromat opens a window into the murky world of espionage, digital warfare and a newly aggressive Russia brazenly inserting itself into U.S. politics.
